COURSE INFORMATION

COURSE GRADE: No final exam.

The course grade will be calculated as follows:

40%: Paper: 6-8 double-spaced pages (See Learning Objectives, below)

30%: Composite score based on in-class quizzes, assignments, bonus points and class participation (See Firms and Quizzes, below)

15%- Long Quiz 1 (closed book) – tentatively scheduled for Oct 1, 2025

15% - Long Quiz 2 (closed book) – tentatively scheduled for Nov 19, 2025

The College of Law mandatory mean for required courses applies to this course.

Therefore, the class mean (i.e. the average grade) must fall between 2.9 and 3.1.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

In this course students will learn how to develop effective and ethical relationships with clients, become competent in recognizing moral dilemmas in the real-life situations encountered by lawyers, and begin to acquire the professional judgment necessary to resolve the kinds of complex problems that arise in legal practice.

Students will become skilled in interpreting and applying the Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct and will understand the attorney discipline system in Georgia as well as basic common law principles arising from malpractice and attorney disqualification decisions. In order to put student learning in the context of real-life law practice, the course is taught primarily from the standpoint of the Georgia rules and Georgia law. However, students will still be well-prepared to take the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination (MPRE) which tests the American Bar Association Model Rules of Professional Conduct because significant differences between the Georgia and ABA Model Rules will be covered. Students will regularly perform lawyering exercises that develop client relationship skills and ethical decision making. They will write one paper that applies what they have learned to analyze videotaped lawyer-client meetings and propose what they would have done in the situation. There will also be short in-class quizzes and two in-class one-hour, closed-book multiple-choice quizzes. There is no final examination.

ATTENDANCE:

Students are expected to attend every class absent good cause for absence. A student may be required to withdraw from the course without credit based upon repeated absence and/or a pattern of being tardy or leaving early without good cause. If a student is absent or late when a quiz is given, it is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor promptly (and preferably before class) if the student wishes to take the quiz as a make-up; such a student must provide in writing an explanation of the good cause (or utilize the GSU Notification process described below) and make arrangements with the instructor to take the quiz, which must normally be completed before the next class. Students will be evaluated on their preparation and contribution to firm work and that evaluation can be factored into the composite quiz score for the semester.

The following information appears on the GSU central administration website, <https://deanofstudents.gsu.edu/student-assistance/#professor> (Office of the Dean of Students refers to the central administration, not College of Law Associate Dean Tameka Lester):

“The Office of the Dean of Students will provide courtesy verification for professors at the request of students when seeking excused absences for documented medical/health related and other emergency circumstances that result in an extended period of absence (a week or more). Absence policies and all decisions regarding excused absences and coursework related matters are made by the individual professors. The role of the Office of the Dean of Students is to review the submissions and notify professors that we have verified that documentation was submitted and assist with student support related to non-academic impacts of extended absences in which a student is directly impacted. Requests for notification should be submitted as soon as possible, ideally within 24 hours of when a student is first impacted, but must be submitted within one week after a student returns from absence. If a student is aware in advance of a need for absence (for example, when a student must have surgery) it is best to notify the Office of the Dean of Students as far in advance as possible. Retroactive notifications for past absences will not be accepted. Please Note: Your submission does not guarantee that you will receive an excused absence. It is always wise to also notify your professors when submitting a form so they can assist you immediately in keeping up with your classwork. All documentation is subject to verification by the Office of the Dean of Students. Students who submit falsified documentation or misrepresented information will be referred for a violation of the Student Code of Conduct.”

EMAIL:

Email sent to students from the course TWEN site is an important part of course administration, such as notifying students that questions for an upcoming quiz have been posted or communicating confidential instructions for class exercises. Therefore students are expected to check at least once a day, Monday-Friday, for course email. You can change your email address registered to TWEN if you do not want course email sent to your student.gsu.edu address.

CASE STUDIES:

The case studies are based on actual cases. Students must be prepared to engage in rigorous class discussion about the details of the cases and to analyze the decisions and actions of the lawyers.

LONG QUIZZESGeneral information

There will be two one-hour closed book multiple-choice quizzes, each of which will count for 15% of the course grade administered on TWEN (for a total of 30%). While taking the quizzes, students may not refer to any written course materials, including the Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct, or online course materials, or any other written or internet-based course materials.

There will be no final exam.

Students will be expected to be familiar with all the assigned readings. Students must also be familiar with the fact patterns for the exercises. Except as specified for particular quizzes, below, students will need to know the content of all of the Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct assigned on the course syllabus including the accompanying comments. When an ABA Model Rule of Professional Conduct is assigned on the syllabus, students will NOT be tested on the accompanying comments unless the ABA comments are separately assigned in the syllabus. Students will not be tested on the “maximum penalty” specified for each Georgia rule.

Students will need to know the content of the American Bar Association (ABA) Model Rules and Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct assigned on the course syllabus (including the comments) but are not expected to identify them by rule number, except for Rule 1.6 and 3.3. With the exception of Rule 1.6 and 3.3, quiz questions that refer to a specific rule will provide a description of the topic of the rule rather than the rule number (e.g. "the Georgia rule of professional conduct for lawyers regarding fees rather than "GRPC 1.5").

Some of the questions will be questions of the type found on the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination that ask the student to apply the rules of professional conduct to a hypothetical fact pattern. Some questions will test knowledge and comprehension of court decisions and other materials assigned for reading. Some of the questions will be based on fact patterns from the Exercises and will focus on issues of ethical decision making and professional judgment of the type explored in quizzes, discussion problems, and other assignments during the semester.

EXERCISES:

There will be a number of in-class role playing exercises. Students must prepare to play an assigned role (lawyer or sometimes a client) for each role play unless they request an alternate assignment on the Student Questionnaire completed for Class One. (An individual student's performance in a role play is not graded.) The paper based on one of these exercises will count as 40% of the final course grade.

COURSE VIDEOS

Students may sometimes view videos online in connection with readings and assignments. Some videos are linked directly to the online syllabus and can be viewed using the VLC Media Player, a free and open source cross-platform player and framework that plays most multimedia files. Download the VLC Media Player at: <https://www.videolan.org/vlc/index.html>

Other videos can only be viewed through the course iCollege website, under "Panopto-GSU."

FIRMS:

In the first week of the semester students will be assigned to a team or "firm" of 4-5 students, through a transparent selection process designed to produce diverse groups of teams. These teams will sit together for all classes. On quiz days, after individual responses are tallied online (see Quizzes, below), for some questions the instructor may set aside time for discussion in the firm after which individual students will be able to respond again, and the second answer will be counted along with the first. Studies of team-based-learning indicate that effectively functioning teams will usually outperform individual student scores. Other tasks will regularly be assigned for teamwork during class time. The student's quiz score total for the semester will include bonus points reflecting the quality of the firm's work on some of these tasks and may include a component based on the quality of one or more peer assessment exercise for the firm.

QUIZZES:

An important method for learning course content is the system of in-class quizzes. For in-class quizzes each student will be given a TurningPoint Response Card ("clicker") with the clicker's ID code tied to the student's name. Students should always bring their clickers to class and also record the ID code, which will be used to display quiz grades on the TWEN web site.

Quiz questions are displayed one-at-a-time and students provide a graded answer using their clickers. Cumulative results for the entire class can thus be immediately displayed after each question. At the instructor's option, students will be given an opportunity to discuss the question in their firms and then take the question again using their clickers. If this option is taken, both the first and second responses count toward the cumulative semester quiz score. The correct answer, often developed through class discussion, is revealed for each question.

Possible quiz questions are posted in advance of class and linked to the syllabus. Students are permitted to discuss the posted questions before class with other firm members but not with anyone else. However, it is an honor code violation to share answers with other firm members or any other student on the first round of a quiz question from the time the quiz question is displayed in the classroom until the answer period has closed.

If a student is absent or late when a quiz is given, it is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor promptly (and preferably before class) if the student wishes to take the quiz as a make-up; such a student must provide in writing an explanation of the good cause and make arrangements with the instructor to take the quiz, which must normally be completed before the next class. If possible, the best option is for the student to arrange with the instructor to take the quiz on-line before a class that a student expects to miss.

Appealing Quiz Scores

Firms are provided an opportunity to appeal their scores, challenging the instructor's choice of the correct answer. Grounds for appeal are:

- 1) A good faith argument that a different answer than the one marked as correct should be counted as correct supported by citation to the assigned readings and other relevant authority that the firm may choose to provide
- 2) A good faith argument that the question was poorly worded, e.g. vague or ambiguous, such that one or more different answers than the one marked as correct should be counted as correct
- 3) A good faith argument that the assigned readings did not provide an adequate basis for choosing the correct answer so that one or more different answers than the one marked as correct should be counted as correct

Appeals must be submitted by email or email attachment, by 10am on the Monday following the class when the quiz was given unless a different date and time are specified on the syllabus.

If the instructor grants an appeal, all members of the appealing firm are given credit for that answer (if different than the indicated correct answer) for each time the student answered that question (e.g. for both an initial individual response and then a second response after firm meeting). Scores for students from non-appealing firms remain unchanged. Points are never subtracted as a result of appeals. Successful appeals are usually posted by the instructor on the course website without indicating the name of the firm or student.

An individual student may appeal but must include in the appeal an explanation for why the student has not acted through his or her firm in pursuing an appeal. Appeals filed by firms are more likely to be granted.

Example of quiz appeal:

On a quiz, B was indicated in class as the correct answer.
All members of Firm #1 chose B (initially and after firm meeting)

All members of Firms #2 & #3 chose answer A (initially and after firm meeting)
Firm #2 appealed the quiz question arguing that A should also be counted as a correct answer and was successful in the appeal. How will the quiz scores be adjusted?
The scores of members of Firms #1 and #3 will remain the same.
The score of members of Firm #2 will be increased by two points (A will be counted twice as the correct answer)

Because quiz questions are not always posted on the course website the week they were given, especially if there is a possibility that an absent student will request a make-up opportunity, students considering filing an appeal may ask the instructor to send the text of a quiz question by email after class.

Unauthorized Public Posting and Distribution of Instructor-Produced Course Materials:

The selling, sharing, publishing, presenting, or distributing of instructor-prepared course lecture notes, videos, audio recordings, or any other instructor-produced materials from any course for any commercial purpose is strictly prohibited unless explicit written permission is granted in advance by the course instructor. This includes posting any materials on websites such as Chegg, Course Hero, OneClass, Stuvia, SuDocu and other similar sites. Unauthorized sale or commercial distribution of such material is a violation of the instructor's intellectual property and the privacy rights of students attending the class and is prohibited.

Accommodation

This course is intended for all academically-eligible Georgia State College of Law students. This includes those with mental, physical, or cognitive disabilities, chronic illness, injuries, impairments, or any other condition that tends to negatively affect one's equal access to education. Students with disabilities are protected by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), a federal anti-discrimination statute. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. For more information about ADA policy, services, and procedures, students may visit <https://access.gsu.edu>. If you have a documented disability and would like to request disability accommodations, please follow the instructions and procedures detailed on the GSU AACE website: <https://disability.gsu.edu/services/how-to-register/>. Once registered, accommodations will be implemented by the College of Law. If you have questions about accommodations and their implementation, please contact Cody Teague, Director of Student Life at the College of Law, at cody@gsu.edu.

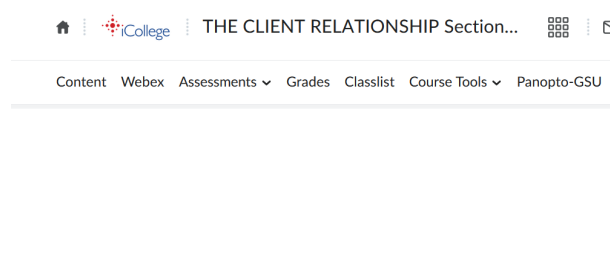

Academic Misconduct:

Please refer to the College of Law's Honor Code for a full discussion of what constitutes academic misconduct and the consequences for failure to comply. The Honor Code is available at <https://law.gsu.edu/student-experience/academics/#honor-code>

Class Recordings:

Every class will be automatically video-recorded. The recording format typically displays in a split-screen format that includes any power point that is being presented. The class recording will usually be posted on the course iCollege website the next day unless there is a pending quiz make-up.

On the iCollege home page for the course Select Panopto-GSU	You will then see a screen like this with class recordings as well as some webcasts for asynchronous classes

Only students registered for this course and others with authorized access to the course iCollege website can view these videos.

READINGS AND ASSIGNMENTS

When a Georgia or ABA Model Rule of Professional Conduct is assigned, the accompanying comments are also assigned unless otherwise indicated.
 GRPC = Georgia Rule of Professional Conduct. MR = ABA Model Rule of Professional Conduct. GLE = Materials on Georgia Legal Ethics
 All writing and other projects assigned for a particular class are due at noon on the Monday preceding class unless otherwise indicated on the syllabus, to give the instructor sufficient time to review before Wednesday class.

To access most of the assigned readings, students will need to be logged into the course TWEN website.
